Since 1988, the World Federation of Chiropractic has been working to advance the chiropractic profession around the world. Now, with an estimated 110,000 chiropractors changing the lives of millions around the globe, the WFC is represented in over 90 countries across seven world regions.

The WFC's mission is to advance awareness, utilization and integration of chiropractic internationally. As the only chiropractic non-governmental organization in official relations with the World Health Organization, the WFC advocates for greater global utilization of chiropractic services and integration of chiropractors into collaborative, interdisciplinary health systems.

Our Research Committee supports chiropractors in practice by curating an open-access reading list that details the leading research in a broad range of subject areas as well as advising on the clinical implications of new scientific evidence.

Our Public Health Committee identifies priority areas in public health and supports initiatives including Straighten Up and Move and World Spine Day.

We work closely with our educational partners and help to facilitate the opening of new educational institutions in areas of the world where none exist. Our biennial WFC Education Conference brings together educators from around the world to share best practice and inspire academic and clinical teachers to embrace the very latest in chiropractic education.

Every two years, the WFC hosts a scientific Congress to showcase developments in the chiropractic profession. Our most recent, held virtually in the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic (2021), educated, inspired and motivated chiropractors around the world to deliver the best in patient-centered chiropractic care. Our next Congress to be held in October 2023 in Gold coast, Australia will return to our in-person format.

As a not-for-profit organization, the WFC derives its revenue from national associations of chiropractors, individual members and corporate partners, whose donations allow it to support, empower, promote and advance the global chiropractic community.

For this reason, supportive and engaged partners are critical to the work of the WFC. We understand that in today's highly-charged and competitive marketplace, corporate partnerships have to be founded on a win-win situation, where the benefits for both parties are clearly identifiable.

With global reach, the WFC offers international exposure that can truly help your business achieve success in both new and existing markets. Together we can make a difference.

Richard Brown DC, LLM, FRCC
WFC Secretary-General
We believe that every person, wherever they are in the world, deserves to benefit from chiropractic.

Low back pain is the largest single cause of disability worldwide. Neck pain is the fourth largest. As spine and joint care experts, chiropractors are changing the lives of patients every day by bringing hope and relief to those afflicted by pain and disability. Their work helps improve quality of life, sustain livelihoods and help people to participate actively in their communities.

While chiropractic is well developed in some countries, in others it encounters challenges that prevent the profession from achieving its potential.

Being a corporate partner of the WFC means being part of a global family that is advocating for the chiropractic profession. Our vision is to positively impact on the lives of every chiropractor, wherever in the world they are practicing.

What this means is that the WFC will advocate for legislation in those countries that do not have it, promote high standards of chiropractic education and the opening of new programs and global recognition as spine care experts.

As a non-state actor in official relations, we represent the profession at the World Health Organization and participate in its initiatives as part of a commitment to universal health coverage.

By combining the resources and expertise of our corporate partners with our vision, we can expand the influence of chiropractic globally by making a happier, healthier and more active populations that can thrive and reach their full potential.
Our strategic pillars

EMPOWERMENT

- We empower national associations to grow, develop and achieve objectives.
